

Use contract test for production metrics

- Use exactly same test to generate metrics on production
- Useful when traffic still small
- Better diagnostic
- OPS can monitor them

Example: gmail reply detection

Gmail has no native way to check if an email has been replied to

It can be implemented through threads

Need to expose this to the domain

1. Discovered how thread works through contract tests
2. Use these tests to write a simulator like gmail
3. Very productive and confident in implementing the domain logic